CMD Delivers On-Time, On-Target, and On-Budget

CMD offers flexible and effective training in a remarkably responsive manner. Past examples of training created, developed, and delivered on extremely tight timelines include the SCI implementation and the new Performance Management System, presentation skills, Personnel Reform Flexibility, and the Personnel Services Division training on labor/management.

CMD staff have extreme proficiency in instructional design and development and how to apply training concepts to FAA specifics. Specialists in the media and technology departments have years of experience in design, development, and implementation of multi-media components, providing the training platform best suited to the audience and content.

The CMD statistical experts in the assessment/evaluations area, along with a reservoir of other staff, check to make sure your trainees get the knowledge they need, when they need it and how they need it.

Furthermore, competent and knowledgeable staff guide you through all phases of training arrangements from inquiry to final deliverable. It's easy -- CMD uses processes that work.

Residential Facility -- Although the March 2000 Benchmarking Study showed that training organizations used a variety of delivery venues, the decision to use a residential facility was strongly supported in those organizations offering on-going training opportunities in leadership and decision making, such as OPM and Federal Executive Institute. Residential training offers a comprehensive learning environment -- getting away from the office distractions AND sets a high expectation for the training/learning experience.

Competitive Pricing -- We make sure through industry benchmarking that not only are you getting high quality services, but that they are delivered at the most effective cost possible.

On-Time / On-Target / On-Budget -- It's what you want from your training dollars and CMD can make it happen.

Interested In College-Level Credits Recommendations?

In certain CMD courses, you may receive college-level credit recommendations through the American Council on Education (ACE). ACE is the umbrella organization for the nation's colleges and universities. Each year, ACE reviews selected CMD courses to determine college credit recommendations. ACE's endorsement of a course gives CMD participants the chance to receive college-level credits at community colleges or universities. FAA courses that may be taken for ACE credit recommendations, including correspondence programs, are listed in the National Guide to Educational Credit for Training Programs available at most registrars' offices. The CMD Library has one copy of the National Guide in the reference section. While you are at CMD, be sure to let us know whether you would like more information on how to obtain ACE credit recommendations.

Information on Competencies

In 2001, the FAA updated its leadership competencies. Based on the Executive Workforce Planning studies, the current model provides 15 sets of the most important skills and abilities needed for leaders to maximize their contribution to the FAA. The CMD curriculum addresses these competencies as indicated for each course under the heading "Related Competencies." See page 71 for a list of the 15 competencies and their definitions.

The course descriptions and learning objectives will give you helpful information about what you will learn and the methods used in the courses.

Accreditation

The FAA Center for Management Development is accredited by the Commission of the Council on Occupational Education.

Students having issues, concerns, and/or grievances concerning their stay at CMD that are not settled at the local level are provided the following address:

COURSE TITLE: Air Traffic Labor Management Relations: Roles, Rights, and Responsibilities, Phase I (AT-LMR-I) 01235

SPONSOR: ATX-100
Program Resource Person: Sherry Reese (405) 954-2505
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed specifically for Air Traffic personnel that require a detailed knowledge of AT-specific Labor Management Relations. Participants will learn to apply LMR methods that will enable management to operate in an effective and systemic manner. Content will focus on the Air Traffic environment and strategic decision-making in LMR situations. Activities include case studies, analysis skill practice, and systemic problem-solving group work.

Before taking this course, participants are required to complete the following CBI "LMR for Leaders" modules:

- MGT01 Labor Statutes, Laws, and Contracts
- MGT02 Management Rights and Responsibilities
- MGT03 Union and Employee Rights and Responsibilities
- MGT04 Grievances and Unfair Labor Practices

Two additional modules are strongly recommended:

- MGT05 The Bargaining Process
- MGT06 MOUs, Facility Directives and Past Practices

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in AT-LMR-I will:

1. Describe the relationship among statute, contract, Executive Orders, Regulations, Policy, and Orders.
2. Distinguish Management, Union, and Employee rights and responsibilities under statute and contract provisions.
3. Explain the systemic impacts of managers' and specialists' decisions both within and outside the Air Traffic organization.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

- Agility
- Building Teamwork and Cooperation
- Communication
- Integrity and Honesty
- Interpersonal Relations and Influence
- Managing Organizational Performance
- Problem Solving
- Strategy Formulation

TARGET AUDIENCE: Air Traffic Regional Branch Managers, Labor Relations Specialists, Supervisory Personnel Management Specialists, Facility Managers, and other personnel that require a detailed knowledge of Air Traffic specific LMR.

LENGTH: 3 Days; 24 Hours

LOCATION: Customer Site or FAA Center for Management Development

COURSE TITLE: Air Traffic Labor Management Relations: Negotiation to Resolution, Phase II (AT-LMR-II) 01257

SPONSOR: ATX-100
Program Resource Person: Sherry Reese (405) 954-2505
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This course is specifically designed for Air Traffic personnel who engage in negotiations with union representatives. Participants will learn and apply proven negotiation and conflict management techniques. Content will focus on the Air Traffic environment and negotiations in LMR situations. Instructional methods include: small and large group discussions, case studies, video, skill practice with peer and instructor feedback, and a negotiation simulation.

AT-LMR-II is considered a high-level course and requires prerequisite knowledge of LMR in order to receive the greatest benefit from the training. Course #01235, AT-LMR, Phase I, is not a prerequisite for this course, although its completion is strongly recommended. If a participant has not completed AT-LMR Phase I, completion of the following CBI modules is required prior to attending AT-LMR-I:

- MGT01 Labor Statutes, Laws, and Contracts
- MGT02 Management Rights and Responsibilities
- MGT03 Union and Employee Rights and Responsibilities
- MGT04 Grievances and Unfair Labor Practices

For all participants, regardless of previous training, the completion of the following CBI modules is strongly recommended:

- MGT05 The Bargaining Process
- MGT06 MOUs, Facility Directives, and Past Practices

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in AT-LMR-II will:

1. Identify subjects of negotiations.
2. Demonstrate negotiation skills.
3. Demonstrate use of appropriate communication techniques in resolving conflict.
4. Identify criteria for documenting resolutions, both verbal and written.
5. Discuss regional trends and issues involving negotiations with 540 representative.

COURSE TITLE: Building Effective Agreements (BEA) 01179

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed to provide participants experience in the use of an interest-based negotiation process to enhance organizational relationships. Participants will be enabled to generate agreements that satisfy the interests of each party that are both efficient and durable.

BEA is a three-day course that includes the theory and the model for building effective agreements, as well as a variety of application opportunities. Participants will learn by utilizing an interest-based process to resolve conflicts by progressing through simple interactions to multi-party issues, and then on to more complex FAA scenarios.

The course activities include large and small group discussions, group activities, written exercises, and skill practices. Throughout the application activities, participants will give and receive feedback on their skills.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

At the conclusion of the session, participants in BEA will be able to:

1. Demonstrate effective communication skills;
2. Complete a Negotiation Planner, and
3. Demonstrate an interest-based process as an effective method of conflict resolution.

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Effective Communication Skills is a two-day, skill-based workshop designed to enhance the communication skills of FAA employees who communicate directly with the public. The course focuses on teaching the student to effectively present the facts of a given situation, and the FAA's position relative to those facts. Emphasis is placed on understanding strategies, format, style, procedures, and processes necessary to communicate in the public affairs arena. Delivering messages with credibility is paramount to course success.

Methodologies include: interactive lecture/discussion; individual and collaborative development of communication pieces using case studies; simulated scenarios using extensive video taping followed by critique sessions.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in ECS will:

1. Articulate the FAA's message(s) appropriately by preparation and execution.
2. Communicate critical issues, facts, and Agency philosophy to the general public.
 - Formulate and deliver clear, concise, and accurate messages;
 - Express technical information in a manner understandable to the general public;
 - Effectively participate in radio, video, remote and print interviews;
 - Develop/sustain the FAA's image as open, forthcoming, and committed to the public's right to know.

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Contact: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Many experienced managers have, and will continue to derive increased professional leadership skills through the Influence, Inquiry & Implications experience. In support of a more effective workplace, participants will focus on enhanced organizational influence and self-management. They will consider strategies to integrate technological and interpersonal capabilities and make an impact on the resolution of cross-functional and systemic issues. The greatest organizational benefit is achieved when participants come to the course with a sincere desire to enhance their abilities in each of these areas.

Participants develop their abilities through a series of leadership skills assessments, structured experiences, skill-based workshop sessions, group dialogue, evening preparation activities, and opportunities to reflect. The course goal is to integrate improved self-management behaviors with expanded influencing strategies to support, initiate, and guide positive organizational outcomes in the FAA.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

While participating in I³, participants will:

1. Enhance their ability to influence workplace behaviors, outcomes, and decisions.
 - 1.1. Enhance feedback, inquiry, and networking communication skills;
 - 1.2. Integrate cultural awareness and systems thinking techniques as a strategy for identifying and resolving organizational issues;
 - 1.3. Select specific opportunities and develop plans to influence their workplace.
2. Identify and develop strategies for enhanced self-management.
 - 2.1. Recognize, and adjust for, the impact of perceptions, assumptions, habits, and actions on workplace effectiveness.
 - 2.2. Identify individual development strategies associated with implementing positive organizational outcomes;
 - 2.3. Integrate enhanced conflict management and self-management skills with strategies for influencing their workplace.

COURSE TITLE: Labor Management Relations (LMR) 01205

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

In order for supervisors and managers to achieve positive outcomes in a multiple interest, bargaining unit work environment, they must know and be able to apply LMR principles and law. Supervisors and managers will learn to create effective labor management relations in the workplace through an understanding of the rights and responsibilities as defined by the law, collective bargaining agreements, and executive orders. The methodologies used in this highly interactive course include case studies, lecture/discussion, small/large group activities, and video scenarios.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in LMR will:

1. Apply knowledge of Statutes, Executive Orders, and collective bargaining agreements to workplace situations.
2. Distinguish between various types of problem-solving processes to resolve differences between labor and management.
3. Exhibit behaviors that demonstrate knowledge of the rights and responsibilities that promote effective, collaborative work relationships.
4. Explain the systemic impact of management decisions in a bargaining unit environment.

COURSE TITLE: Leadership Development and Labor Relations (LDLR) 01183

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Leadership Development and Labor Relations is intended for newly selected supervisors who require the foundational knowledge and skills of LDP-I and who would also benefit from a more in-depth knowledge of Labor Management Relations. (For those who need only a minimal knowledge of LMR, see LDP-I). In LDLR, participants will recognize their supervisory roles and responsibilities; examine their leadership style and interpersonal skills; apply coaching and conflict resolution techniques to workplace situations; understand the rights and responsibilities of management and unions as defined by law, contracts, and executive orders; and practice the principles of interest-based communication to build collaborative relationships with unions in the FAA. Methodologies include lecture/discussion, videotapes, small group work, skill practices, case studies, and student presentations, indoor/outdoor action-based learning initiatives and leadership simulations.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in LDLR will:

1. Analyze how leadership style impacts job performance.
2. Give and receive feedback in work-related situations.
3. Demonstrate interpersonal communication skills in various work-related scenarios.
4. Apply recommended procedures to resolve performance and conduct issues.
5. Apply knowledge of FAA policies and programs in supervisory situations.
6. Apply knowledge of the Statute, collective bargaining agreements, and Executive Orders to workplace situations.
7. Apply rights and responsibilities to promote effective, collaborative work relationships.
8. Explain the systemic impact of management decisions in a LR environment.
9. Develop an action plan to support continued growth in supervisor/leadership effectiveness.

DESCRIPTION:

Leadership Development Program, Phase I, is intended for newly selected supervisors who are not managing in a bargaining unit environment. (For those who need LMR in-depth knowledge, enroll in Leadership Development and Labor Relations [LDLR]). LDP-I expands and integrates foundational knowledge and skills for new supervisors to be effective leaders. In LDP-I, participants will recognize their supervisory roles and responsibilities; examine leadership styles; apply policy information in work situations using interpersonal communication skills, coaching and conflict resolution techniques; and develop action plans. Instructional methods include videotapes, readings, skill assessment instruments, skill practices, indoor and outdoor (low element challenge course), and highly interactive exercises to simulate the challenges of the workplace.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in LDP-I will:

1. Analyze how leadership style impacts job performance.
2. Give and receive feedback in work-related situations.
3. Demonstrate interpersonal communication skills in various work-related scenarios.
4. Apply recommended procedures to resolve performance and conduct issues.
5. Apply knowledge of FAA policies and programs in supervisory situations.

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Manager: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Leadership Development Program, Phase II, is designed for experienced supervisors who have completed Leadership Development Program, Phase I, or the Leadership Development and Labor Relations course. During LDP-II participants will: apply the basic concepts of dealing with changes in the current FAA environment; increase their self-insight; enhance their ability to be self directed; develop additional leadership skills, and build effective work relationships.

LDP-II provides an opportunity for participants to engage in a wide range of activities, each designed to challenge current assumptions, increase behavioral options and provide enhanced skills. Interactive activities include: indoor and outdoor challenges simulating the current work environment; small group analysis of work-related issues, and facilitated discussion of concepts presented through a series of videos. Personal reflection activities include: examining results of a "360 degree" Leadership Assessment and Personal Stress Management Survey completed prior to the course; completing a series of workbook exercises; and planning effective application of learnings back in the work place.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of the course, participants will be able to:

1. Apply strategies to identify and take advantage of opportunities in a changing environment.
2. Identify areas to improve their effectiveness as leaders through expanded self knowledge and understanding of others;
3. Prioritize work based on its importance and their ability to influence outcomes;
4. Create a climate of teamwork and trust where individuals are valued and encouraged to work collaboratively; and
5. Model effective leadership behaviors, such as problem solving, networking, trusting and earning the trust of others, and adapting to change.

DESCRIPTION:

Managing Change is designed for managers, supervisors, and others who are impacted by current organizational change initiatives or are responsible for implementing change in their organization. The course provides participants opportunities to increase individual awareness about their attitudes, approaches, perspectives, and possible reactions to change. This learning is accomplished through a variety of exercises, videos, and discussions related to individual and Agency major change initiatives. Participants provide feedback to each other and contribute to the learning experience by openly discussing the impact and effectiveness of their previously-held and newly-formed perspectives. As perspectives shift, students create strategies designed to increase their ability to effectively contribute in a changing environment.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in MC will:

1. Identify concepts, skills, and tools for the effective management of change.
2. Evaluate personal effectiveness in response to change.
3. Apply concepts, skills, and tools to support themselves and others during organizational change.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

For FAA/DOT working partner pairs who have been actively engaged in a partnership effort and who want to maintain, enhance and expand their partnership effectiveness.

Participants will assess the effectiveness of their partnership, determine what has helped or hindered their partnership efforts, use effective tools for ongoing partnership maintenance and enhancement, and plan actions to improve their partnership behaviors and interpersonal skills that will optimize individual and organizational effectiveness.

Learning methodology will include a combination of standard measurement/assessment instruments, classroom discussion, and case study simulation and application. Current realities in today's FAA will be addressed in a supportive partnership classroom environment.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in MPR will:

1. Review the partnership relationship through the use of a pre-course questionnaire and assessment instruments.
2. Assess the quality of the working partnership through the use of a Partnership Profile.
3. Learn examples of effective partnership behaviors.
4. Practice partnership behaviors in case studies and skill practice.
5. Plan for improvement in and mentoring of partnership back in the workplace through the use of an action plan.

COURSE TITLE: Mediation Techniques for Conflict Resolution (MTC) 01236

SPONSOR FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed to give participants experience in the use of mediation techniques to increase/enhance workplace productivity, relationships, and morale. Participants will learn to assist others to resolve workplace conflicts by asking effective questions, clarifying interests, developing options and minimizing or eliminating non-productive behaviors.

Mediation Techniques for Conflict Resolution includes both a Distance Learning component and a classroom component. To prepare for the classroom portion, participants will be required to complete a 1-hour Distance Learning module "Introduction and Self-Assessment." This component provides a basic overview of the course and gives participants the opportunity to assess their current conflict management styles.

The classroom portion of the course includes large and small group discussions, group activities, written exercises, videotaped skill practices, and giving and receiving of peer and instructor feedback.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in MTC will:

1. Assess conflict resolution behaviors.
2. Recognize alternative methods for managing conflict.
3. Describe a five-step mediation process.
4. Demonstrate effective mediation techniques.
5. Demonstrate techniques to minimize non-productive behaviors.
6. Give and receive feedback on effectiveness of mediation skills and techniques.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

- Building Teamwork and Cooperation
- Building the Model Work Environment

COURSE TITLE: Professional Techniques for Systemic Change (PTSC) 01258

SPONSOR: ANI

DESCRIPTION:

The FAA's NAS Implementation organization (ANI) has initiated many systemic changes in the way it achieves its mission and accomplishes its goals. Professional Techniques for Systemic Change (PTSC) workshop has been designed to support ANI employees adapting to change. This is a highly interactive workshop focused on creating a willingness to explore change from a systemic perspective. Participants 1) learn communication techniques that support mutual understanding for collaborative decision-making, 2) identify the most effective ways they can influence change initiatives within ANI, and 3) consider short-term and long-term implications of their decisions.

There is a pre-course component that is e-mailed to participants 3-4 weeks prior to the workshop and must be completed and brought to class. Workshop methodology includes computer simulations, case studies, lecturettes, large and small group discussions and self-assessments.

The course goal is to enable ANI employees to proactively manage their transition experience by being open to exploring organizational change.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

During this workshop, participants will:

- 1.0 Apply change management tools that allow individuals to move themselves and encourage others through transitions by exploring their perceptions about ANI organizational changes.
- 2.0 Apply systems thinking concepts and strategies to ANI workplace situations, recommendations and decisions.
- 3.0 Identify an ANI change initiative for which they can provide leverage and create a recommendation.

COURSE TITLE: Staff Study Fundamentals (SSF) 01259

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

The FAA, like other government and private organizations, is experiencing the impact of downsizing, budget cuts, and demands for more effective resource allocation. One increasingly visible impact is the need for decisions to be made with reliable data provided by staff studies. The importance of a good staff study has increased exponentially during this time of change in the FAA.

Participants will examine the major components of a staff study and identify methods to increase their effectiveness when doing a study. The course consists of mini-lectures, interactive discussion, and small group work. Participants will gain a clear and consistent understanding of suggested skills and processes through opportunities to practice those skills and to expand their awareness of available resources. A specific case situation, which can be a current issue provided by the participant, will be worked through the course.

Through these activities, participants will develop skills in dealing with data and presenting information; understand the value of specific processes and work flow model; and become more comfortable operating independently to execute projects requiring effective staff work.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in this course will:

1. Demonstrate the procedures to conduct an effective staff study.
2. Write a purpose statement that meets provided criteria.
3. Demonstrate the techniques for gathering, organizing and analyzing data.
4. Demonstrate generating, narrowing and analyzing options.
5. Demonstrate the procedures for selecting a recommendation.
6. Demonstrate a staff study briefing.

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed for FAA managers and leaders who have facility, program, or project responsibilities. It provides the skills and knowledge necessary to maximize leadership effectiveness. Participants practice skills that help them set the vision, strategies, and measures for their facility, program, or project and enables them to articulate a clear strategic plan. Instructional approaches used are: self-assessment, individual and group work sessions, videos, outdoor challenge course, and a case study. Participants and their co-workers complete a computer-based feedback assessment instrument prior to attending.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

In SP students will:

1. Identify individual strengths and areas for improvement relative to manager/leader skills.
2. Identify ways that wellness actions can positively impact job performance.
3. Gain understanding of DOT and FAA future directions, and where to locate this information.
4. Develop a vision of a more desirable future (one to three years) for his/her area of responsibility.
5. Communicate a strategic plan that enrolls stakeholders in working toward a shared vision.
6. Develop strategies and implementation plans that will move the organization's progress toward the shared vision.
7. Develop measures that can be used to assess the status of plan implementation.
8. Develop strategies to create an environment where diversity, teamwork, collaboration, and a shared vision promote commitment to an organizational strategic plan.

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Systems Thinking is designed to provide FAA leaders and problem-solvers with the knowledge and skills necessary to analyze specific organizational issues within the context of the larger organizational system. Participants enhance their problem solving skills by: (a) applying systems thinking in analyzing issues and designing strategic interventions, (b) engaging in effective inquiry and advocacy, and (c) identifying individual assumptions and organizational patterns that influence individual and organizational effectiveness. Methodologies include systems simulations on the computer and in the classroom, videos, worksheets, case studies, and lecture/discussion.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in SYT will:

1. Use System Thinking Concepts to identify individual and organizational assumptions which influence work-related situations.
2. Identify and analyze how the interaction among the components of a system influences outcomes.
3. Use inquiry skills to clarify assumptions and to explore how assumptions limit organizational learning and innovation.
4. Use systems thinking principles, concepts, and tools to design alternative ways of addressing specific organizational issues.
5. Use tools and techniques to generate and explore possible implications of a systemic problem or issue and determine the probability of possible events occurring, their impact, and effective actions.

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

The Team Workshops are designed to provide instructional and consultative services to organizations and teams (natural and ad-hoc), tailored to their specific needs. Deliveries may consist of existing CMD courses, abbreviated or modified deliveries of existing courses, or facilitation around specific issues; e.g., Visioning, Team Building, Goal Setting, Reengineering, Consolidating, Transition of Leadership, and Interpersonal Communications Training. The overall outcome is to build effective work groups that share a sense of community and a commitment to resolving issues. Methodologies include interactive discussion, lecturettes, skill practices, collaborative data generation, indoor and outdoor hands-on activities.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

The outcomes of this type of intervention will vary in accordance with the specific needs of the group being supported. The following list includes but does not limit the range of subjects that can be addressed.

1. Establishment of organizational vision, mission, goals and objectives.
2. Improved interpersonal communication skills.
3. Enhanced atmosphere of trust of co-workers and commitment to shared goals.
4. Increased appreciation for the value of diversity.
5. Empowerment of the team to be responsible for solutions and increased understanding of the contribution each member adds to organizational success.
6. Effective problem solving and decision making processes.
7. Ability to confront and effectively resolve conflicts.
8. Matured attitudes about continuous improvement, self assessment, and the responsibility and ability to self manage.
9. Clarification of roles and responsibilities.

COURSE TITLE: Working Together Effectively using Collaborative Team Processes (WTE/CTP) 01255

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

The Working Together Effectively using Collaborative Team Processes (WTE/CTP) course is designed to enhance the collaborative skills of work team members. This 4½-day course focuses on the attitudes, strategies, and tools needed for effective communication and teamwork. Participants will also learn to define team problems, analyze causes and potential solutions, reach collaborative decisions, and manage conflict situations appropriately.

The course uses interactive lecturettes and class discussions, case studies, structured experiences and style preference instruments. Significant time is also spent in workshop skill practices where real team issues are addressed using the skills and tools provided.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in WTE/CTP will:

1. Enhance trust and mutual respect among team members.
2. Apply collaborative communication techniques to team activities.
3. Promote active involvement in accomplishing team goals.
4. Give and receive feedback in a manner which enhances individual and team productivity and product quality.
5. Identify team problems and apply problem-solving methods.
6. Apply decision-making techniques to team problems.
7. Define individual and/or team conflict situations and apply appropriate conflict management strategies.

COURSE TITLE: Writing an Effective Self-Assessment (WESA) 01272

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This one-day workshop focuses on strategies and writing techniques that help employees provide relevant, focused input about their performance when completing self-assessments used in the new Performance Management System, Superior Contribution Increase process, or other performance-related situations. Students will learn to 1) identify required critical elements for self-assessments; 2) develop and practice appropriate writing strategies; and 3) to critique self-assessments for clarity and effectiveness from the reader's perspective.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

By the end of the workshop, the participants will:

1. Identify critical elements required to complete Self-Assessments.
2. Develop writing strategies appropriate for PMS/SCI situations.
3. Practice writing and giving feedback on self-assessments.

CMD WORKSHOPS

The following pages contain descriptions of CMD workshops that are typically available in a conference-type setting. The workshops are four to six hours in length. Customers can select the topics that are most appropriate and arrange for a series of workshops that best meet their needs.

These workshop topics can be embedded within team workshops to meet specific training requirements of the team, and they can also be incorporated into facilitated conferences as required.

Course numbers are assigned to workshops allowing for participants to receive training credit for each session attended.

To arrange for CMD workshops at your facility, contact CMD's special program coordinator, George Weaver, at 386-446-7222.

COURSE TITLE: Balanced Scorecard (BS) 01284

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

People and their managers are working so hard to be sure things are done right, that they hardly have time to decide if they are doing the right things.

Steven Covey

This workshop introduces participants to a framework for creating a Balanced Scorecard system that translates organizational strategies into measurable outcomes.

The workshop provides tools to build upon current FAA goals and performance metrics. These tools allow management to communicate a variety of metrics to keep stakeholders, upper management, team members, and employees up to date. Balanced Scorecard metrics also demonstrate a clear linkage of operational activities to the achievement of FAA's goals.

Through interactive discussions and exercises, students will practice using a balanced scorecard system to help align their organization's efforts with its strategy.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, you will be able to:

1. Describe the benefits of implementing a Balanced Scorecard system within your FAA organizational responsibilities; and
2. Draft Balanced Scorecard measurements to your FAA responsibilities.

COURSE TITLE: Basic Principles of Interest-Based Bargaining (IBB) 01193

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Increased focus on labor/management partnership has begun to change the informal, if not official, definition of "bargaining". Associated terms such as "traditional" and "interest-based" seem to cloud the issue. Many supervisors, managers, employees, and union representatives are skeptical of the interest-based approach. Some of that skepticism may stem from not fully understanding the concept, some from resistance to the need for new skills and attitudes, while some may stem from negative experiences with other types of negotiations. The ability to find common ground, to reach agreement, and to put positions aside has become increasingly important as the Agency strives to become more efficient. This workshop provides an overview of the tools and techniques necessary to reach high value negotiated decisions in support of agency goals.

Designed to provide an introduction to the principles of interest-based bargaining, this highly interactive workshop provides dynamic lecturettes, small group discussions, and brief application activities. Participants will discover the differences between the process of negotiating from a "position" with little flexibility and an interest-based approach which seeks to find common ground. This session lays the foundation for the skills built in CMD courses such as Building Effective Agreements and The Partnership Challenge; it does not, in any way, substitute for them.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Differentiate between bargaining based on positions and bargaining based on interests;
2. Apply the four principles of interest-based bargaining to the workplace;
3. Articulate their role in an interest-based negotiation; and
4. Identify four phases of an interest-based problem solving model.

COURSE TITLE: Combating Negativity (CN) 01209

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Do the words angry, frustrated, anxious, stressed, resentful, or confused describe you or the people with whom you work? If so, it's possible that you are combating negativity. This workshop is designed to help participants recognize and deal with the insidious nature of negativity and its impact on their success. Participants will learn a five-step process for attacking and conquering negativity.

Participants will be introduced to "Negaliens," come to understand the impact of "Negattacks" on productivity and quality, and identify their personal vulnerability to these dangerous entities. Fortunately, they will also develop strategies to recognize personal negattack triggers and to defeat their own negativity in the middle of the battle. Additionally, participants will learn to support others in accomplishing similar goals - recognizing the impact of negativity and overcoming patterns of negative communication. During the workshop session, participants will receive feedback, complete worksheets, and engage in small group activities to help clarify concepts and increase personal awareness.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending the workshop on this topic, participants will be able to:

1. Recognize and combat negativity in themselves and others;
2. Demonstrate strategies for overcoming and/or avoiding negativity; and
3. Support others in overcoming their own negativity.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

COURSE TITLE: Critical Examination of Mental Models (CMM) 01244

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Mental models are internal pictures, images, maps, assumptions, theories about how the world works. We may not know they are there but they influence what we see and do. When our models are outdated or inaccurate, our reactions to situations can hamper our individual effectiveness making it difficult for the Agency to accomplish its goals.

In this workshop, participants will identify and analyze the impact of mental models to determine how they limit personal and organizational learning, reduce the effectiveness of decisions, and minimize employee potential. Participants will identify and revise mental models regarding critical FAA issues such as people, policies, unions, leadership, and accountability.

Interactive lecturettes will be used to introduce and clarify information and a case study will be used to apply the concepts to an FAA related situation. Through structured group activities, participants will identify and revise mental models related to current FAA issues.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Recognize their mental models, assumptions, generalizations, and ideas that influence their decisions and actions; and
2. Use a dialogue process to uncover and assess mental models which may limit workplace effectiveness.

COURSE TITLE: Effective Questioning: A Different Way to Communicate (EQT) 01253

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Effective communication tools have become a more essential part of every employee's day-to-day interactions and are a requirement for success at work. Questioning is a powerful tool that is often overlooked in communications training. Effective Questioning: A Different Way to Communicate brings a unique insight into the effects of positive questioning, not only as a method of gathering information or interrogating, but as a communication skill that can assist in coaching, problem solving, stimulating ideas, encouraging discussion, expanding alternatives, and gaining understanding.

Participants will see how astute questioning can enhance conversations, job performance, and capacity to influence, as well as improve the quality of all work relationships. The workshop is designed for employees at every level of the Agency.

The activities in this workshop are designed to give the participant an opportunity to classify questions according to purpose, recognize the various types of questions, and to identify individual questioning styles. Activities include lecture, written exercises, large and small group discussion, and questioning practice.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Discuss the value of questioning as a communications technique;
2. Classify various questions based on their purpose;
3. List strategies for overcoming barriers to successful questioning; and
4. Develop and practice questions that encourage discussion and influence others.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

The discussions and activities in this workshop challenge participants to examine their own ethical behaviors in the face of rapid change, internal competition and concern for stability while living in chaos; and to implement a risk analysis tool designed to support acting on ethical choices.

Through interactive lecture/discussion and case studies, participants will investigate several research based standards of ethical behavior in government, and develop a working definition of ethics in their own workplace. During the workshop session, participants will practice the use of a risk analysis model and apply it to ethical dilemmas which they face as individuals and/or as work group members. The activities will support participants in minimizing the risks associated with ethical behavior.

If time permits, participants will practice skills that encourage others to apply the risk assessment model, and to more consistently make highly ethical choices in the workplace.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in this workshop, and optional lab, will:

1. Consciously assess their own behavior against the highest standards of ethics;
2. Practice implementation strategies for minimizing associated risks;
3. Plan to increase the consistency of their own ethical behavior; and when possible,
4. Practice supporting others in making and acting on highly ethical choices. (Lab only)

COURSE TITLE: The FAA Budget in Brief (BIB) 01223

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

One of the biggest challenges of government reform is accomplishing all of our mission requirements in an era of limited financial resources. We live in an environment where the taxpayer is demanding the highest quality return on tax-dollar investment. The federal budget is the process that activates the federal programs that serve the American people. In order for this process to be effective, it requires that employees are knowledgeable about budget functions and consistently work to derive maximum value for our FAA dollars.

This session, The FAA Budget in Brief, is designed to enhance participants' understanding of the Federal Budget processes down to and including the expenditure of funds by the local FAA Facility. Through the processes of discussion, lecture, and a class exercise, participants will develop skills in understanding the overall FAA budget cycle, planning documents associated with the budget, Congress's role in the process and criteria for sound budget justifications.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Specifically in this session, the participant will be able to:

1. Identify relationships between the FAA budget process and the U.S. budget process;
2. Identify major components of the FAA budget and their interrelationships; and
3. Describe the process of executing (expenditures and tracking) the FAA budget.

COURSE TITLE: FAA Guidance on Conduct and Discipline (COP) 01232

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

FAA Personnel Reform and other Agency initiatives have resulted in new procedures for the management of employee conduct and discipline. It is often difficult for supervisors to stay abreast of the most current orders, the appropriate forms and the right procedures. This workshop introduces participants to the latest documents and orders associated with these tasks.

Participants will become familiar with selected Personnel Reform Implementation Bulletins (PRIBs), the most current Supervisors Handbook, and the most current FAA orders associated with conduct and discipline.

The simulation used in this workshop requires participants to document conduct and determine appropriate discipline. Instructors will clarify information based upon questions which arise during the session.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

After attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Determine appropriate actions in response to conduct and discipline issues;
2. Effectively document employee conduct;
3. Cite and clarify applicable sections of the Supervisors Handbook, Personnel Reform Implementation Bulletins, FAA Orders, and negotiated agreements;
4. Identify representational issues associated with discipline and how to handle them;
5. Identify types of evidence and how they are relevant to a case;
6. Effectively facilitate a Weingarten meeting; and
7. Coach for conduct.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Increasing demands, decreasing resources. There are team meetings, staff meetings, partnership meetings, special project meetings, etc., etc. Sometimes it seems like all we do is attend meetings! It has become increasingly crucial that meetings are efficient and effective strategies for accomplishing Agency objectives and fostering collaboration among all segments of the work force. Often, meetings are neither efficient nor effective, and do not accomplish the objectives. This workshop, which is consistent with CMD's Facilitator Training Course (FTC), provides many of the tools and techniques for creating and participating in effective meetings.

Through interactive lecturette, small group discussion, and the completion of a self/group assessment checklist, participants will learn how to be more effective in facilitating meetings.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Identify the responsibilities of a facilitator, group recorder, and effective group members;
2. Identify the benefits of developing and using operating guidelines; and
3. Support meeting productivity by clarifying outcomes and recognizing the stages of group development.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

- Agility
- Building Teamwork and Cooperation

COURSE TITLE: Implications Charting: Analyzing Systemic Problems (IMP) 01245

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

In the world of work, individuals are paid to find an answer to a problem. Under time constraints and other pressures, people often jump to solutions to complex issues, without effectively exploring their impact or possible consequences. Unanticipated effects can sometimes cause more problems than the original issues. Organizations must then use scarce resources in attempting to solve the resulting problems. Using implications charting can help minimize these types of negative consequences.

Implications charting, one of the many powerful tools taught in CMD's Systems Thinking course, is used to review and assess potential solutions prior to implementation. It is a method for anticipating possible short and long term results of an action and evaluating their impact on a system or organization.

The session will consist of mini-lecturettes and small work group practices and presentations. Participants begin by writing a problem statement related to a workplace issue. Next they generate several possible solutions. Working outward in concentric circles, participants create possible sequences of events. Creativity is enhanced by avoiding strictly logical progressions and encouraging "out of the box" thinking.

After generating several paths for each solution, participants evaluate the consequences in terms of their likelihood as well as positive and negative effects. They conclude the process by identifying specific steps to help achieve desired results and pinpointing areas to avoid. Participants end the session with work group presentations.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

After attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Use the tools and techniques of implications charting;
2. Generate and explore possible implications of adopting alternative solutions to a problem; and
3. Analyze the probability of possible events occurring, their impact, and effective actions to promote or lessen the likelihood of those events.

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Improving Work Processes provides a strategy for applying process management to the routine and recurring work of an organization as a tool for dealing with shrinking resources. Participants will have the opportunity to identify and begin implementation of critical changes which will transform core processes to create customer value.

Engaging in interactive lecture/discussion during the workshop sessions, participants will review process management strategies and develop a working ability to quickly use those strategies as a tool to identify incremental changes in their task areas.

During the session, individuals and/or small groups will apply process management tools to specific, individually identified task related processes. Guidance will be provided in the use of the tools. Participants will gain insights into their opportunities for incremental improvements. Examples will be discussed to illustrate common opportunities across the agency.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of participating in this session, participants will be able to:

1. Recognize opportunities for applying process management tools to their work related processes;
2. Construct a flowchart of their top priority work process; and
3. Describe the value of continuous improvement resulting from process management.

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This session might be called the "Skills Tool Box" and is offered for those who are expected to lead in the FAA's empowered environment.

The Agency is actively engaged in many initiatives designed to improve safety, customer satisfaction, and efficient use of taxpayer dollars. Each initiative is both a pre-requisite to change, and a strategy to affect specific change in how we do business. None can stand alone, nor can any of these initiatives succeed without effective leadership throughout the agency. This workshop is designed as one small step in support of expanding such leadership.

The perspective presented is that each employee - regardless of position, title, or assigned "leadership" responsibility - has both opportunity and obligation to lead in the empowered environment necessary to achieve FAA's mission. During this workshop, participants will focus on their ability and willingness to proactively influence the actions of others. Specifically, they will sharpen the skills needed to accomplish four key outcomes: create shared knowledge, maintain a supportive environment, trust and be trustworthy, and model desired behaviors. Enhanced ability to achieve these outcomes results in enhanced leadership capacity.

Through interactive lectures, small group discussion, skill practices, and personalized application activities, participants will develop the specific skills necessary to lead in today's leaner organization. While participants may have been exposed to the skills of presenting information, making effective language choices, and questioning in a way which encourages open dialogue, this workshop provides specific how to's, sample phrases and models.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of participating in this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Present information and/or requests in a persuasive manner;
2. Make language choices which support a collaborative environment; and
3. Communicate and behave in a way that collaborative, trusting relationships are established and maintained.

COURSE TITLE: Introduction to Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) 01195

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

During this workshop, participants will learn their Myers-Briggs Personality type and gain an understanding and appreciation for how various personalities focus attention, gather information, make decisions, and relate to the outside world. Common workplace characteristics of each type and areas of potential conflict with other types will also be explored.

During the session, participants will engage in interactive lecture and small group discussions.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of participating in the session, participants will be able to:

1. Understand the common workplace characteristics of one's own type;
2. Improve communication with co-workers of different types;
3. Recognize and value the diversity of types; and,
4. Identify appropriate resources for further application of the MBTI.

COURSE TITLE: Introduction to the Project Management Process (IPM) 01252

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Regardless of their position, title, or designated responsibilities, everyone manages projects from time to time. For example, the administrative officer manages arrangements for a meeting of field personnel. The personnel specialist manages a project to pilot a new compensation system. The computer specialist manages a project to implement a new software package. These employees can benefit from using the same tools of project management that engineers and construction contractors use. The principles are the same.

This course introduces the basic concepts and special tools of project management. Through interactive lecture/discussion, participants will discuss what a project is and how managing a project is different from managing in general. They will explore the phases of a project's life cycle and the typical activities associated with each phase. Working in small groups on a case study, they will practice using project management tools to plan tasks and allocate project resources.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

After attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Explain basic project management concepts and terminology; and
2. Apply tools and techniques for project planning and control: work breakdown structures, Gantt charts, and PERT diagrams.

COURSE TITLE: Introduction to Staff Studies (ISS) 01247

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

The FAA, like other government and private organizations, is experiencing the impact of downsizing, budget cuts and demands for more effective resource allocation. One impact that is becoming increasingly visible is the need for more employees to be able to effectively accomplish more tasks and to operate more independently. People in the position of Administrative Support Staff have historically played a vital role in the efficient operation of various offices. The importance of that role has increased exponentially during this time of change in the FAA.

Introduction to Staff Studies enhances the skills needed to effectively execute the increasingly critical and expanding requirements for staff studies. Participants will examine the major components of a staff study and identify methods to increase both their efficiency when doing a study and the effectiveness of the study. The session will consist of mini-lecturettes, interactive discussion, and small group work. Participants will gain a clear and consistent understanding of suggested skills and processes, have an opportunity to practice those skills and expand their awareness of available resources by learning from each other. A single case situation, designed to facilitate session activities, will be provided and worked during the session.

Through these processes, participants will develop skills in dealing writing a purpose statement, analyzing data and options, and selecting a recommendation. They will come to understand the value of specific processes and workflow models; and become more comfortable operating independently to execute projects requiring an effective staff study.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in this workshop will:

1. Demonstrate the procedures to conduct an effective staff study;
2. Write a purpose statement that meets provided criteria;
3. Demonstrate the techniques for gathering, organizing, and analyzing data;
4. Demonstrate generating, narrowing, and analyzing options;
5. Demonstrate the procedures for selecting a recommendation; and
6. Identify the components of a staff study written report and a staff study briefing.

COURSE TITLE: Labor Management Relations: Understanding the Answers (LMR-UA) 01229

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Anyone who has read the Federal Service Labor Management Relations Statute (5 USC, Chapter 71 or Title VII of the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978) knows that "the statute" is something less than easy to understand. This workshop is designed to clarify basic information related to your daily interactions in a labor/management environment. The information presented in this workshop is the same as that discussed during the first day of CMD's Labor/Management Relations course.

Working in small groups, participants will complete a "search and find" question/answer activity that helps them become familiar with the statute. Detailed discussion of the answers will increase their understanding of the parameters established by law or contract. Supervisors frequently face issues of representational rights in various situations and are challenged regarding management's obligation to bargain. This workshop clarifies those requirements. The increased understanding gained from this workshop lays the foundation for interacting with union representatives and other employees in a more comfortable and confident manner.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Identify applicable sections of the Labor-Management Relations statute;
2. Determine appropriate management actions based upon an understanding of those sections; and
3. Define appropriate union representation during Formal and Weingarten discussions and determine issues appropriate for bargaining.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

DESCRIPTION:

This one-day workshop provides an overview of the essential skills for managing individual performance on a daily basis through the FAA's Performance Management System. The skills include conveying the organization's goals and their relationship to the individual's goals, collaboratively setting expectations, documenting performance, giving feedback, writing and communicating performance summaries.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

By the end of the workshop, the participants will:

1. Explain the importance of the FAA's Performance Management System and its relationship to other processes.
2. Identify and communicate the relationship between organizational goals and the performance expectations of individuals in the organization.
3. Describe the components of the Performance Management System and the importance of each.
4. Identify the elements of effective performance expectations.
5. Describe the roles and responsibilities of both the manager and the employee in each component of the system, to include methods to facilitate the training of the employees.
6. Demonstrate the skills necessary to effectively manage performance.
7. Utilize the Job Aids for each component in the system.

COURSE TITLE: Managing Others Through Change (MOTC) 01246

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This workshop assumes you already have a solid understanding how your own thoughts, feelings, beliefs, and attitudes toward change enable or diminish your ability to respond to a changing environment.

As leaders in the FAA, you will be called upon to support significant organizational change as we explore the benefits of reform and restructuring and look for more effective ways to solve the complex problem of ensuring a safe aerospace system.

As technology and our effectiveness increase so does the speed of change. Leaders must also manage the perhaps more difficult challenge; helping others to accept new directions, with shifting objectives and ambiguous parameters. This workshop addresses that challenge.

This workshop introduces information to support leaders in moving others through the resistance stage of change. Interactive lecture, participant discussions, and skill practice sessions will help participants: identify causes for resistive behaviors, develop their inquiry skills as a tool for understanding such behavior, and practice strategies for working with resisters in the workplace. Consistent with CMD's Managing Change course, this workshop focuses on the resistance stage, and supports participants in accepting that both change and resistance to it are natural consequences of growth and time.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Recognize resistive behaviors;
2. Use inquiry skills to understand the causes of resistive behavior; and
3. Identify strategies for supporting others in overcoming resistance to change.

COURSE TITLE: Managing Your Workload for Success (MYW) 01240

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This session challenges participants to evaluate how they plan and prioritize their work in order to produce effective and on-time results.

This highly interactive, skill practice workshop will provide participants with an opportunity to self assess their current skills and practices in the area of time management and how they manage their workload around it. Through assessment instruments, small and large group discussion and case studies, participants will be exposed to techniques that help them to better organize and prioritize their important tasks at work. At the end of the session, participants will identify action steps that can be applied in their work environment.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of the workshop, participants will be able to apply strategies/tools for getting more control over time and tasks in the workplace by:

1. Identifying present uses of time;
2. Identifying ways to prioritize the most important work tasks; and
3. Applying methods to avoid time wasters.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

The rapid nature of technological change and shifting managerial focus can create a sense of instability in many professions. Reorganization, reduction in supervisory and management level positions, ongoing technological insertion and changing expectations from Congress, the industry and the public have combined to create tremendous pressure for personal change within the FAA. Our ability to manage ourselves through rapid change cycles has a direct impact on our effectiveness at work.

This workshop will provide basic background information and critical tools for supporting individuals in their own change efforts. Combining powerful elements, including activities from the Change Agent and Managing Change courses, this workshop focuses on preparing individuals to change their own attitudes and behaviors in order to become a effective part of the FAA's future.

Participants will engage in both large and small group discussions, illustrative activities and personal assessments. They will come to recognize the impact of their natural reactions to change; and, as appropriate, develop alternative responses which may serve them more effectively.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Apply basic change theory;
2. Recognize the impact of change;
3. Identify personal responses to change; and
4. Devise alternative personal strategies for responding to change.

COURSE TITLE: Mediating Conflict (MDC) 01219

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Conflict occurs in all aspects of our lives. In many cases, parties involved in the conflict are unable to find shared solutions, and require the support of an outside objective party. The ability to facilitate a mutual agreement between parties in conflict is called "mediation". Mediation can be an effective option for peacemaking or problem solving in dealing with interpersonal conflicts in the FAA work environment.

Those who can successfully use mediation techniques in the workplace demonstrate unique interpersonal and communication skills. This workshop is designed to clarify those skills and support participants in becoming more effective in their use. While "Mediating Conflict" is an introductory session, it moves beyond interest-based negotiation and the conflict management techniques presented in CMD courses such as LDP-1 and LMR.

The workshop begins by identifying appropriate applications for mediation techniques and exploring the skills and behaviors of successful mediators. Through discussion and skill practice situations, participants move through the phases of a mediation process model and practice the associated communication and interpersonal skills.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

During the course, the participants will:

1. Differentiate mediation from other conflict resolution methods;
2. Identify communication skills of effective mediators;
3. Identify appropriate opportunities for application of mediation techniques; and
4. Recognize effective mediation of low level interpersonal workplace conflict.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

- Agility
- Building Teamwork and Cooperation
- Business Acumen
- Building the Model Work Environment
- Communication
- Interpersonal Relations and Influence
- Problem Solving

TARGET AUDIENCE: Agency employees who have responsibility for resolving conflict.

LENGTH: 4 Hours

COURSE TITLE: Problem Solving (PS) 01281

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed for FAA employees who are in positions or roles with problem-solving responsibilities. We all have our own unique styles of responding to a problem situation when confronted. This course examines a four-step problem solving model including problem definition, situation analysis, options generation and analysis, and problem solution. It utilized interactive lecture/discussion, application exercises, and small group work. It also reviews various methods and tools which support successful completion of each of the four steps in the model.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Participants in this workshop will:

1. Demonstrate the procedures to resolve identified work issues;
2. Write a problem statement that meets provided criteria;
3. Demonstrate the techniques for analyzing issue(s) to identify causes;
4. Demonstrate the process to identify possible solutions.
5. Demonstrate the procedures to selecting a solution.
6. Develop an action plan for the selected solution.

COURSE TITLE: Strategic Planning: Navigating Toward the Future (NTF) 01228

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Congress has recently acknowledged the importance of strategic planning to the FAA. Two very visible changes have demonstrated that awareness: a five year budget approval and a five year term for the FAA Administrator. These changes signal an improved opportunity for the agency to not only create, but execute, strategic plans.

Participants will explore the six elements of the strategic planning process used in CMD's Strategic Planning (SP). By utilizing sample plans, checklists, and process models, participants will develop a challenging and yet realistic organizational action plan for their area of responsibility.

Brief lecturettes and large group discussion will be used to set context, overview strategic planning, and provide necessary information. Each participant will spend the majority of the workshop developing a draft vision statement and strategies to achieve the vision. Working in small groups, they will receive coaching and feedback from instructors and other participants.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Identify the elements of a strategic planning process; and
2. Develop vision statements which focus group energy and inspire quality performance.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

- Building Alliances
- Business Acumen
- Strategy Formulation

TARGET AUDIENCE: Agency employees responsible for planning.

COURSE TITLE: Taking Responsibility for Your Own Stress (STRESS) 01194

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

Rapid change, fewer people, increased responsibilities, limited resources, and confusion about what each of us has control over all seem to be adding to a sense of helplessness, frustration, and lack of choice. This workshop provides strategies for effectively dealing with stress. Participants will focus on making the distinction between those things over which they do and do not have control or influence.

As in CMD's Leadership Development Program, Phase II, participants will critically examine their leadership behaviors, especially as they relate to leading during times of ambiguity. They will consider the power of choosing proactive responses, rather than just reacting to situations, and will discuss the application of principle-centered choice to the workplace.

Making these personal choices to be more effective can be difficult. Participants will be provided Stress Management information with suggested stress reduction techniques. During the session, participants will engage in facilitated dialogue, simulations, and interactive lectures to discover the value of personal choice in a professional environment and the strength to take such action.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Differentiate among reaction and principle-centered choice;
2. Identify strategies for solving problems through principle-centered choices; and
3. Reduce associated job stress.

COURSE TITLE: Using an Interest-Based Approach to Building Agreement (IBA) 01283

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

The continued need for long-term, sustainable agreements makes this workshop a necessity for people at all levels of the organization. To build those agreements, it is important for people to be able to use effective communication skills and uncover the underlying issues and interests at hand and put aside the more traditional position-based approach.

This workshop is designed to provide the basic tools and skill-building opportunities needed to utilize the six-step interest-based negotiation model from the Harvard Negotiation Team. It involves focused discussions, the use of video clips, two Harvard case studies and one generic FAA scenario. While this session provides the same model and process and some of the same application activities as CMD's Building Effective Agreements (BEA), it does not involve the negotiation of participants' own issues.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

As a result of attending this workshop, participants will be able to:

1. Use an interest-based approach for building agreements;
2. Complete a Negotiation Planner; and
3. Demonstrate effective communication skills during negotiation.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

- Building Alliances
- Building Teamwork and Cooperation
- Communication
- Interpersonal Relations and Influence

(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

This workshop is built around the True Colors® Communication System that, for over 20 years, has assisted people in finding more success in their endeavors. It reinforces some of the most important skills necessary to succeed at work. These include personal respect, dignity, a sense of worthiness and capability, positive communication, the ability to motivate others, successful teamwork, and the prevention and resolution of conflict.

The methodologies used in this workshop include self-assessment, small and large group activities, discussion, and lecture. The session is designed for four hours. This workshop is appropriate for employees at all levels of the organization.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this workshop, participants will be able to use their understanding of True Colors to:

1. Describe the historical relationship of True Colors with other theories of personality characteristics and types.
2. Identify their own unique blend of strengths, qualities, and preferences.
3. Create strategies for understanding and appreciating their colleagues to add value to the workplace.
4. Identify strategies to be more effective in the workplace.

COURSE TITLE: Workplace Violence: What Everyone Should Know (WPV) 01256

SPONSOR: FAA Center for Management Development
Program Resource Person: Roberta Sappington, Ph.D. (386) 446-7251
(To enroll, contact your line organization's training coordinator.)

DESCRIPTION:

According to some experts, workplace violence has become an epidemic. Each year nearly 1 million individuals become victims of violent crime while working or on duty. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that homicides were the second leading cause of all death in the workplace. In addition over 2 million personal thefts and over 200,000 car thefts occur annually while people are at work. The financial loss has been estimated at $36 billion annually. The psychological and emotional toll, the work interruptions, repairs and clean-up to buildings and equipment, medical and legal costs, damage to employee confidence, low morale, lower productivity, employee turnover, harm to community and national image, all result in incalculable losses.

It is important for all employees to develop an awareness of this issue in order to recognize and manage events before they become the extreme examples we read in the newspaper headlines.

This session is designed to give participants a realistic perspective of workplace violence and some useful guidelines for recognizing the warning signs of violent behavior, and some resources for prevention and intervention.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Using large and small group discussion, videos, case study examples, and written exercises, the participant will:

- Recognize patterns of behavior that may indicate violent potential;
- Describe techniques and strategies to minimize the frequency and seriousness of workplace violence; and
- Develop a list of resources for continued education and support.

RELATED COMPETENCIES:

- Building Teamwork and Cooperation
- Problem Solving

DISTANCE LEARNING OPPORTUNITIES

Distance Learning at CMD is any training outside the traditional classroom setting where the delivery medium may include any of the following:

- Correspondence courses;
- Audio/videotape sessions (CMD Library Collection);
- Interactive Video Teletraining (as scheduled and announced);
- Computer-Based Training;
- Personal Audiotapes (PATs); and
- Pre-course materials (mail and electronic transmission).

CMD provides a variety of training opportunities through distance learning. This approach is intended to assist you in achieving your learning goals by making training available to you at your work site or home. This type of training is self-paced and can be used to:

- Complement resident training courses;
- Meet special training needs; or
- Develop new skills and knowledge.

A list of current distance learning courses appears on the following pages.

We welcome your suggestions about training needs that may be met through distance learning. Please contact Myles Lund, FAA Program Manager, at (386) 446-7258 or on e-mail or visit our web site at:

CMD CORRESPONDENCE COURSES 14000 Series

Correspondence Study Courses offered by the Center for Management Development are intended to strengthen the overall leadership skills of the FAA. These courses are offered for training record credit.

Enrollment Procedures:

Have your Manager or Supervisor sign a completed Correspondence Study Enrollment Application (AC Form 3145-2) (NSN 0052-00-706-0007), available for reprint on page 63.

#14010: Briefing and Presentation Techniques

A course on how to conduct briefings, orientations, and general presentations. Designed to improve oral communication skills and delivery techniques. Use of training aids, audience analysis, and determining objectives covered.

#14014: Writing Improvement

A course designed to improve and enhance skills in report and letter writing. Areas addressed include arrangement of ideas and facts, sentence and paragraph construction, avoiding complexity, abstraction, and pomposity.

#14019: Staff Specialist

Designed to provide skills in gathering and analyzing information, exploring and documenting in writing options and possibilities related to solving agency issues and processes. "Staff" can be thought of as any person or segment of the organization that provides information, research, or advice for making decisions. A "short" version of Staff Specialist can be found in Stand-alone Module (SAM) #011.

#14025: Effective Discipline in a Changing Workplace

A practical course for anyone needing information and training about current FAA policies and procedures regarding conduct and discipline issues. Topics include appeals, grievances, collective bargaining, penalties, observations, data collection, and interpersonal tools. Individual topics within this course can be found in the Stand-alone Modules (SAMs) #030 - #031, available in print or online at www.cmd.faa.gov.

#14027: Report Analysis and Consolidation

At the end of this course, students will understand the purpose and function of various report types. The organization of data, formulation and support of conclusions, presentation formats, and interpretation of report results are all covered. Course targeted towards staff functions, but is open and suggested for employees at all levels.

#14033: Interpersonal Skills for the Leadership Role

A workplace-oriented course that encompasses the key aspects of interpersonal skills most pertinent to the leadership role. The course addresses maintaining objectivity, communicating expectations, active listening, giving and receiving feedback, coaching, managing conflict, and the self-assessment of personal skills.

#14038: Building Organizations and Managing Work

This course presents the FAA mission and helps you, as the FAA leader, advance that mission through your everyday work. Designed for first-line supervisors, employees, or team members seeking advancement to leadership. Topics include organizations, mission, goals and objectives, team roles and function, principles of management, and scheduling techniques.

#14040: Introduction to Basic Labor Relations

Course focuses on applicable labor relations statute and collective bargaining agreement. Intended to help supervisors and managers interact with employees and union representatives. Materials include Overview, Statutes, Agreement Administration, Grievances, and Conduct and Discipline. Individual topics within this course can be found in the Stand-alone Modules (SAMs) #032 - #035, available in print or online at www.cmd.faa.gov.

#14041: The FAA Budget Process

Course provides the historical background necessary to understand the Federal and FAA budget processes. Covers the topics of budget cycles and resource management. Not intended as a training tool for budget analysts. Target audience is general for overall employee development. Individual topics within this course can be found in the Stand-alone Modules (SAMs) #036 - #039.

STAND ALONE MODULES (SAMs)

SAMs are short courses on a variety of pertinent topics and are available to all employees. Some SAMs are, in fact, separate modules of correspondence courses, e.g., Introduction to Basic Labor Relations and The FAA Budget Process. SAMs can be used as “refresher” training or kept as reference materials. SAMs, when completed, are not documented in an individual’s Permanent Training Record.

SAM 011: Staff Specialist

This Stand-Alone Module (SAM) is a review of the concepts and the skills used in doing staff work which were covered in the correspondence study course. Course includes developing a staff study written report using an outline and other materials which are provided.

SAM 030: Formal Discipline Process and Procedures (also available online)*

This Stand-Alone Module (SAM) is intended to be an introductory lesson or refresher which includes Formal Discipline, Determining Just Cause, Formal Penalties, and The Formal Discipline Process.

SAM 031: Grievance and Appeal Procedures (also available online)*

This Stand-Alone Module (SAM) is intended to be an introductory lesson or refresher which includes Employees' Rights to Review, Grievance Defined, The Administrative Grievance Process, What is Grievable, What is an Appeal, The Appeal Procedure, and Supervisor's Responsibilities.

SAM 032: Basic Labor Relations: Overview (also available online)*

This Stand-Alone Module (SAM) is intended to be an introductory lesson or refresher which includes Historical Perspective; Hierarchical Structure; Campaign, Petition, and Election; and Roles, Rights, and Responsibilities.

SAM 033: Basic Labor Relations: Statute (also available online)*

This Stand-Alone Module (SAM) is intended to be an introductory lesson or refresher which includes Statute Overview, Formal Discussions, Information Requests, Obligation to Bargain, and Unfair Labor Practices.

SAM 034: Basic Labor Relations: Agreement Administration and Grievances

(also available online)* This Stand-Alone Module (SAM) is intended to be an introductory lesson or refresher which includes Agreements, Grievances, and Interest-based Bargaining.

COMPUTER-BASED TRAINING COURSES

#01317: Managing Diversity in the Workforce (CD-ROM)

Developed for supervisors and managers in the FAA to provide techniques for managing a workplace that is becoming more diverse. Explains the relationship between diversity, the law, and the FAA mission. Includes scenarios and exercises.

Enrollment Procedures: Enrollment in CPMIS (Consolidated Personnel Management Information System) either through your Regional Office or via the TRIMATE Data General/CPMIS interface.

You must be pre-enrolled in CPMIS, or your completion will not be accepted by CPMIS.

All of the above methods of CBT delivery require the same administrative procedures to receive official credit (a completion record entered into your Official Personnel Folder) for any CBT courses you might take. The only differences are the methods of courseware delivery.

Note: Your facility CBT manager will be able to assist you in your enrollment procedures. A complete list of other computer-based training available at CMD may be obtained in the CMD Library/Resource Center.

CORRESPONDENCE STUDY ENROLLMENT APPLICATION
INSTRUCTIONS: Use this form for enrolling in correspondence study courses. It will serve as a source document for the correspondence study automatic data processing system. Therefore, please print all information in the blocks which are subdivided by short marks, the first character of information should occupy the left most subdivision. If your organization has no assignment routing symbol, please use an appropriate abbreviation in the Routing Symbol blank. For instance, station identifiers may be used as routing symbols for air traffic control facilities. Attention is now directed to the bottom section. This serves as a label for mailing your correspondence study materials. Avoid unnecessary delays in your study plans by making certain this label is filled out correctly. Rules and procedures for enrolling in correspondence study courses are given on the reverse side of the form.
After your completed application has been approved by your supervisor, a requirement of Order 3000.6C, Training, fold it along the fold lines indicated on the reverse side. Insert the folded form in a window envelope so the address of the Aeronautical Center appears in the window and mail. Franked mail may be used for correspondence study enrollment application.

EFFECTS OF NONDISCLOSURE - The disclosure of this information is voluntary; however, omission of an item means you may not receive full consideration for training in which this information is needed . . . INFORMATION REGARDING DISCLOSURE OF YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER UNDER PUBLIC LAW 93-579 SECTION 7(b) - Disclosure by you of your Social Security Number (SSN) is mandatory to obtain the services, benefits, or processes that you are seeking. Solicitation of the SSN by the United States Office of Personnel Management is authorized under provisions of Executive Order 9397, dated November 22, 1943. The SSN is used as an identifier throughout your Federal career from the time of application through retirement. It will be used primarily to identify your records that you file with the Office of Personnel Management or agencies. The SSN also will be used by the Office of Personnel Management and other Federal agencies in connection with lawful requests for information about you from your former employers, education institutions, and financial or other organizations. The information gathered through the use of the number will be used only as necessary in personnel administration processes carried out in accordance with established regulations and published notices of systems of records. The SSN also will be used for the selection of persons to be included in statistical studies of personnel management matters. The use of the SSN is made necessary because of the large number of present and former Federal employees and applicants who have identical names and birth dates, and whose identities can only be distinguished by the SSN.
